When a new call arrives

1 Give the caller a response

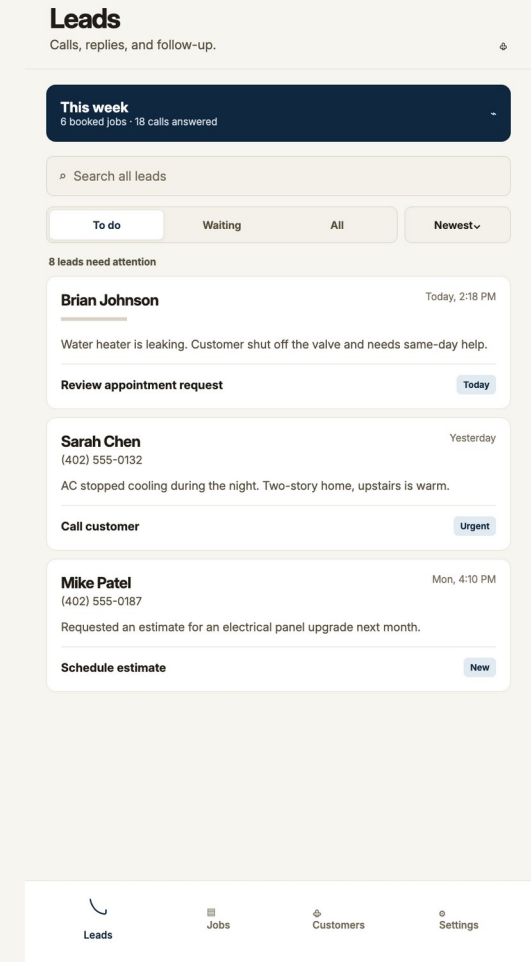

The virtual receptionist answers missed and after-hours calls when your forwarding is active.

2 Collect the request

Capture what the caller needs, where the work is, and the details your team will use.

3 Choose the next step

Review the lead, contact the customer or schedule work.

The screenshot displays a web application interface for 'handled calls'. On the left is a sidebar with navigation links: 'Leads' (active), 'Jobs', 'Customers', and 'Settings'. The main area is titled 'Leads' with the subtitle 'Calls, replies, and follow-up.' and an 'Add lead' button. Below the title is a list of leads under the 'All leads' tab, with sub-tabs for 'To do' and 'All'. The leads listed are: Brian Johnson (Water heater leaking today), Sarah Chen ((402) 555-0132, AC stopped cooling), Mike Patel ((402) 555-0187, Estimate for panel upgrade), and Kevin Lopez ((402) 555-0148, Roof repair after storm). The details for Brian Johnson are shown in a large panel, including his initials 'BJ', a 'Booked' status, and sections for 'LAST CONTACT' (Today at 2:18 PM), 'REQUEST' (Water heater is leaking. Customer shut off the valve and needs same-day help.), 'ADDRESS' (2228 South 64th Plaza, Omaha, NE), and 'NEXT ACTION'. A prominent green button labeled 'Call customer' is present. Below this is a 'Job booked' notification for May 15 at 9:00 AM. To the right of the details panel is a 'Customer follow-up' section with a 'Review request sent' confirmation (Your review request was sent.), an 'Activity' log showing a 'Missed call' (Today at 2:18 PM), a 'Job booked' (Today at 2:25 PM), and another 'Review request sent' (After job completion).

Booking that follows your settings

Offer eligible appointment times

With instant voice booking enabled, the receptionist can create a job after the caller chooses a time that fits your saved availability.

Review requests when needed

When instant booking is off or the request does not fit, your team reviews it. Website appointment requests also wait for owner approval.

Availability lives in Handled Calls. External calendar sync is not currently supported.
